

Interstellar Space: Genesis - Evolving Empires expansion pack Announced!

April 28th, 2022 - Praxis Games announces Interstellar Space: Genesis - Evolving Empires, the second expansion pack to their debut space 4X strategy title.

Interstellar Space: Genesis' second expansion Evolving Empires is taking your galactic empire to a whole new level through the introduction of exciting new gameplay features. This expansion's focus is to provide you with new playstyles to pursue, a host of new strategies to execute, and near endless replayability. In addition, it brings in more to explore, with the addition of emerging societies that serve as hidden treasures waiting to be discovered, studied, and potentially incorporated into your empire.

Evolving Empires includes:

- Evolutions new feature: Play with all the races in meaningful new ways and evolve your strategies through the introduction of highly thematic, unique and asymmetric abilities that are specific to each race!
- Minor Civilizations new feature: Discover a wide variety of unique minor civilizations and reap their powerful benefits. Study these emerging societies and unlock their full potential, taking your relationships to a whole new level!
- 7 new leaders: You can hire 7 new exclusive leaders, a representative from each minor civilization category. These new leaders await the opportunity to put their skills to work for a mighty empire like your own!
- 2 new music tracks: You will get 2 additional galaxy map tracks inspired by the new Evolutions and Minor Civilizations features!

Keep an eye out for our dev diaries to learn more about the new features as we approach the launch of the expansion, which will happen soon.

About Praxis Games

A word on our company and our values. Praxis Games was born from the passion of playing video games for the PC, strategy games in particular. Single-player experiences at heart. We exist to please the fans. To make the games you want to play, again and again. We believe that games should serve three purposes: to entertain, to inspire and to help educate. In that regard, our games are crafted to be a lot of fun, in order to make you lose the track of time. They will inspire you by putting you in command and in control of something bigger than yourself. And finally, our games are deep, rich in detail and made as accurate as possible because we want to help challenge your critical thinking skills, stimulate your imagination and guide you on a voyage of discovery.
